Spectrum Receiver

STEP 1

Connect Receiver

- A Connect one end of the coax cable to a cable outlet, and then connect the other end to the receiver.

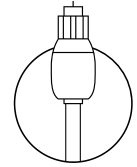

Note: A coax splitter should be used if this cable outlet will be shared with a modem for Internet or Voice service. Visit spectrum.net/splitter for more info.

- B Connect one end of the HDMI cable to the receiver, and then connect the other end to your TV.

- C Connect the power cable to the receiver, and then plug the other end into an electrical outlet.

- D Remove the battery cover from the receiver remote, and then insert the batteries. Make sure the batteries are facing the correct direction. Using the remote, turn on the receiver.

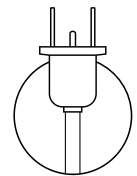

Note: If you have additional receivers, repeat steps A through D.

Start Watching TV

- A Make sure the receiver is on using the remote.
- B Turn on your TV, and then select the correct HDMI source using INPUT or SOURCE on your TV or TV remote.
- C Complete any onscreen instructions, and then you can start watching TV.

Tips

- It may take up to 20 minutes for the guide to show all your channel info.
- For your local channel lineup, visit spectrum.net/channels
- For the best picture quality, we recommend using an HDMI connection. If you're using a coax or component connection, instructions are available at spectrum.net/tvselfinstall
- Avoid placing anything on top of the receiver.
